Protecting Your Prescription Benefits

Express Scripts Extended Payment Plan

Paying for three (3) months of your Home Delivery medication(s) can be costly. Home Delivery is most often less expensive than retail pharmacy, but paying for three (3) months of a high dollar medication in one payment can be difficult. If you have more than one high dollar medication, a payment plan may be necessary for you so you can stretch out your payments.

Express Scripts can help. Express Scripts offers the option for an Extended Payment Plan. In this payment plan, participants are able to stretch out their payments over a three (3) month period. For example, for a monthly bill of $450, this would stretch payments out to $150 per month. To set your prescriptions up for this option, you must do the following:

- Log in to your account on www.express-scripts.com
- Select My Account, then select Edit Payment Information
- A box will appear with your current payment information: select Edit Information

- The third option is for the Extended Payment Program – select this option to update your preferred payment method
- Click in the box before “I agree with the above Terms & Conditions” to accept the Terms and Conditions of their payment program
- Select the card you would like to use for the Extended Payment Plan, or enter a new one if you prefer
- Finally, select the blue button at the bottom of the payment program information: submit changes for extended payment plan

Once approved, your newly selected payment information should appear in the Payment Information box in your My Account page. This information can be updated by you at any time.

Worry-Free Fills®

Manage your maintenance medications easily. The Worry-Free Fills program provides you with automatic refills, so there's no need to worry about refilling your maintenance prescriptions on time.

There are two ways to automatically fill your prescriptions.

1. Visit www.express-scripts.com to create a personal account (refer to the FAQ on www.carpdc.org/BenefitServices for step-by-step instructions on how to create an account). Once logged in, select Manage Prescriptions from the menu bar, then Manage Automatic Refills from the drop-down menu. Enroll all future prescriptions into the Worry-Free Fill program by selecting Enroll Now. Any prescription eligible for Worry-Free Fills will display in this box: Set Worry-free Fills for eligible prescription refills. Check the box next to the script to sign-up for Worry-Free Fills. It's that easy.
2. Call Express Scripts Customer Service at (800) 939-2134 and inquire about Worry-Free Fills. An Express Scripts Customer Service Representative will be able to assist you with managing your maintenance medication refills.

Diagnostic vs. Preventive Services

Are you confused about what medical services are considered diagnostic and which ones are preventive?

Many people are.

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) provides guidelines so healthcare consumers are able to better understand what services will incur charges and which are covered under preventive services.

These guidelines have now been made available to you on our website as follows.

www.carpdc.org/BenefitServices/Resources/ under the Other Resources tab: Preventive Care Services Under the ACA

Off the Meds? Step-By-Step

Refer to the May 2014 Builder or the carpdc.org website for A Call For Relief For All Heartburn Sufferers: Part I.

Step 1: Relieve Gastroesophageal Reflux Disease (GERD) and Laryngopharyngeal Reflux (LPR) Symptoms

The following are solutions doctors may offer you to help relieve your GERD and LPR symptoms:

- Eat small meals
- Limit coffee intake
- Limit alcohol intake
- Avoid nicotine
- Stay clear of chocolate, mint, citrus, onions, spicy foods, fatty foods
- Don't eat 2 hours before bed
- Elevate your head with pillows beginning at the upper back, or raise the head of your bed to discourage acid from rising too far up your esophagus at night

Step 2: Determine Your "Triggers" (what causes your GERD)

To achieve a healthy digestive system, we need to look the foods we are eating that interfere with its function. The following are facts of eating which may disrupt healthy digestive function<sup>1,2</sup>:

1. Eating a high carbohydrate diet (processed and refined foods)
2. Variety of medications
3. Higher estrogen levels
4. Food sensitivity, allergy or intolerance
5. Chronic infection, such as H. pylori

Digestive problems can be cured or reduced by determining what triggers your indigestion in the above list. It would be wise to limit coffee and alcohol and eliminate nicotine in all cases during the process of determining triggers. These are known to be irritants in every instance.

Step 3: You Can Eliminate GERD & LPR!

Lifestyle choices and diet changes can improve GERD and LPR sometimes overnight. In other instances, especially if you've relied on prescription medication for years, eliminating your symptoms can take a lot longer.

First, and maybe the most simple method of eliminating GERD and LPR, select research proves that eating a low carb diet can eliminate symptoms.<sup>2</sup> This would include a diet higher in protein and good fats. A good reference book for this type of diet is Heartburn Cured, by Norm Robillard, Ph.D; however, there are multiple resources with excellent information available on the internet and in bookstores regarding low carb and other GERD friendly diets.

Eliminating GERD has found to be a byproduct of a healthy lifestyle. Various websites offer a host of diet information on eating healthy. References to some of these sites may be found in our online article on www.carpdc.org. In many instances, in addition to changing your diet, supplementation may be necessary to help your body move your food in the right direction and increase your nutrient absorption. As your body grows healthier, diet supplementation may not be necessary any longer.

Discuss natural remedies and supplements with a Board Certified Clinical Nutritionist. You may not need to take digestive supplements for life. One exception may be individuals who have had their gall bladders removed. Enzyme assistance may be helpful to take some pressure off the liver and help foods fully digest.

It is important to note that individuals who have taken PPI medications may also need to supplement with Magnesium and/or Vitamin B12. Magnesium and B12 levels can be checked with a blood test at the request of your primary care doctor.

*Disclaimer: Carpenters' Health & Welfare Trust Fund of St. Louis does not recommend stopping or altering any medication or dosage of a medication prescribed by a physician. #### What is MyPlate?

ChooseMyPlate.gov Website Highlights:

messages include:

- Balancing Calories
  - » Enjoy your food, but eat less.
  - » Avoid oversized portions.
- Foods to Increase
  - » Make half your plate fruits and vegetables.
  - » Make at least half your grains whole grains.

  - » Drink water instead of sugary drinks.

The Benefits of Exercise

“Physical activity is the closest thing we have to a wonder drug,” according to CDC Director Tom Frieden, M.D., M.P.H.

In fact, according to a Vital Signs report released in April 2014 by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), “working age adults...who do not get any aerobic physical activity are 50% more likely than their active peers to have a chronic disease such as cancer, diabetes, stroke, or heart disease.”

There is so much more to exercise than burning calories. The food we put in our mouths has a much greater impact on our body weight than the calories we burn during exercise. So what makes exercise so important?

Exercise can:

- Control your weight
- Reduce your risk of cardiovascular disease
- Reduce your risk for type 2 diabetes and metabolic syndrome

- Reduce your risk of some cancers
- Strengthen your bones and muscles
- Improve your mental health and mood
- Improve your ability to do daily activities and prevent falls, if you're an older adult
- Increase your chances of living longer

More specifically, regular exercise gives your heart a workout and can reduce the risk of coronary heart disease, diabetes, cardiac mortality (heart attack or arrest resulting in death) and regulate blood pressure. Regular exercise has also been proven to improve brain function by elevating your mood, alertness and thought processes. It improves whole body function by enhancing sleep, building immunity, decreasing your risk of osteoporosis, colon cancer, breast cancer, and prostate cancer.

Exercise is critical for our bodies to function most effectively. The CDC recommends individuals engage in the following minimum exercise per week (to maintain your current weight):

- 150 minutes (2 1/2 hours) at a moderate intensity, such as brisk walking, or 75 minutes of vigorous intensity exercise (jogging or running) at the very minimum per week. Based on this requirement, we would only need to exercise 10-21 minutes a day minimum.
- Muscle-strengthening activities at least 2 (or more) days per week.

Parent Tips for Internet Safety From your Member Assistance Program (MAP), 314.729.4650 or 800.413.8008

It's summer! Our kids have more time to explore both outside and inside. We know that most kids “explore” the internet ...but how do we monitor for safety?

The internet offers new knowledge, games and a whole information highway to our children, and we also know there are risks which may expose our kids to danger, exploitive and unhealthy material.

Here are some considerations as you build your safety net:

1. Do they spend large amount of time online, especially at night? Although chat rooms may appear as a way to make new friends, we know predators and offenders are online around the clock, seeking vulnerable children.
2. Have you checked the viewing history of your child's computer use? If you find inappropriate content on their computer, iPod, tablet or phone, have a discussion with your child.
3. Is your child receiving or making phone calls from numbers you don't recognize, including long distance numbers? It doesn't hurt to spot check their phone.
4. Is your child starting to withdraw from family or does he/she seem preoccupied with online communications?

5. Be aware of what they are searching. It is possible that, although a search may be innocent, an inappropriate result may appear.
6. Know your child's password and usernames.
7. Remember some games, including kids' games include a “chat feature,” which allows “chatting” with people all over the world. Unfortunately, predators often target children in creative unsuspecting ways and will often utilize kids' games to befriend them.

Spend time with your children online, using this as an opportunity to educate around exploitation. Parents and children should remember that clever offenders manipulate and may disguise their true identity, pretending to be a different age or gender.

We want our children safe. If you have concerns, don't ignore them. Contact your law enforcement or the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (1-800-843-5678) <http://www.missingkids.com/home> for assistance.

Most importantly, stay informed.
